

THE ISA AWARDS 2014 CONGRATULATIONS TO ALL OUR ENTRANTS!

The ISA Awards take place on 15 May at Coombe Abbey in Warwickshire. There, we will announce the finalists and winners of these inaugural Awards.

Thanks to all of you who entered the first ever ISA Awards.

“As we expected, the standard was extremely high, and the judges had a difficult time whittling down the entries to finalists and then to ultimate winners,” said ISA CEO Neil Roskilly.

The judging session, which took place on 11 April, examined all entries and supporting evidence before finally agreeing on which schools should go through in which category. The category winners were also chosen.

These are being kept a strict secret until 15 May when they will be revealed at the Awards Gala Dinner.

“The Awards have given us an even greater insight into the impressive work that our Heads and teachers are doing all day, every day. We are looking forward immensely to the Awards Ceremony on 15 May, which promises to be a very entertaining evening and a fitting celebration of all the achievements and successes of ISA schools this year.”

The calibre of entries is yet further proof that ISA schools are a driving force in the pursuit of excellence, creating an educational environment in which pupils can excel and flourish.

“Every school that entered deserves high praise, and if your school doesn’t get through this time please do enter again next year,” said Neil. “It’s a rare opportunity for us all to shout about our many successes and to let pupils, parents and governors share in this recognition. Congratulations to you all.”
